MR. MAYO'S MUSIC.

Three Big Meetings Held Sunday and Will Continue All This Week.

Large congregations greeted Mr. Wright at every service at Westminster church Sunday, at night every available space was occupied and those who came late were unable to find seats. With Miss Nourse accompanying and Mr. Mayo directing the choir the music continued to find favor with the large numbers present. Never was Mr. Mayo's voice better than in his solo at the morning service. At night his solo, "Abide With Me," brought a hush to the entire audience. Perhaps the crowning feature of the music of the day was the duet of Mr. Mayo and Mr. Wright at the night service when they sang again, "Art Thou Weary, Art Thou Languid."

Mr. Wright's sermon at the morning service from the text, "Woe to them that are at ease in Zion," was another strong appeal and tender warning to the people of God to re-consecrate and rededicate themselves to Him and to arouse to lives of usefulness in seeking the salvation of sinners. The preacher never fails to emphasize the necessity of individual church member deciding his relation to God in the surrender of himself to Him.

In the afternoon the church was well filled with young people to hear a sermon from the text, Rev. 3:20, "Behold I stand at the door and knock." It was an earnest appeal to the old as well as the young to open their hearts to Him who stood seeking entrance to their hearts, a King, a Saviour, a Friend. His appeal brought several to the front with whom the personal workers of the church engaged in earnest conversation.

THEY ROPED HIM IN.

And Thereby the Business Man was Taught a Lesson.

The business man, who owns two dogs made a mistake a few days ago. Every Sunday he takes the dogs for a walk, and for fear that they may go astray he fastens them together with a stout rope. The little dog, he feels assured, will not lose the big dog, and he is quite positive that the big dog will not lose the little one. Of course if the big dog takes it into his massive head that he wants to go in a certain direction he is pretty apt to have his way. Luckily he is usually persuaded animal, and the little dog by the exercise of some diplomacy gets fully as much fun out of the promenades as the big fellow.

Well, all three of the friends were out walking Sunday, the two dogs and the master, and the dogs were some distance ahead. The snow was drifted deep in places, and the master determined to turn and go back. He whistled for the dogs.

The big dog whirled around. He saw his master had stopped and instantly came full tilt toward him. The small dog was taken by surprise and for a few moments could not regain his footing. When he did he put in some tail raising. They came down on the master at a stiff gallop.

As they approached their speed increased, the little dog at the end of the rope running for dear life. Just as they reached the master they separated, the little dog going around him to the right and the big dog to the left, the six feet of stout rope held taut between them.

When the master gathered himself out of the snowdrift and blew the flakes from his mouth and dug them from his ears and rescued his hat and brushed off a little of the more sticky mass, he started for home with one whirling hand grasping the rope, the dogs demurely trotting along on either side.

Hereafter he will either shorten the rope or else get behind a convenient tree the next time he whistles.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Paromimus.

"Never mind," say the lawyers to the manufacturer of great wealth after the jury has found him guilty and the judge has pronounced sentence upon him in scathing words—"never mind, we can take an appeal in this case, and if it goes against us in the court of appeals we can get a writ of error and a habeas corpus and a mandamus and an injunction and so on until"—

"Excuse me, gentlemen," says the manufacturer of great wealth, "I have concluded to pay my fine and serve my sentence. I figure that your fees would be a great deal more than my time and money to my the penalty are worth."

"Slings" his law books, fling out and thinking bitter thoughts about the economical traits that have enabled their client to build up his fortune.—Chicago Post.

What Pat Said.

A woman fell from a ferryboat crossing over to Camden the other day, and a poor Irishman sprang over and rescued her. When she was safely landed on the deck her husband, who had been a calm spectator of the accident, landed the brave fellow a quarter.

Some of the bystanders expressing their indignation, Pat said: "Arrah, don't blame the gentleman—he knows best. Perhaps if I hadn't saved her he'd have given me a dollar."

Disillusionment.

The goal of life are rarely reached; The hopes of life are vain. I set about to get a watch And only got a chain.

—Hawthorne's Magazine.

Unimportant.

The captain of a certain yacht had evinced an anxiety touching a talisman to the crew that at once attracted the attention of a fair passenger on board.

"What's the trouble, captain?" asked she.

"The fact is, ma'am," was the response, "our rudder's broken."

"Oh, I shouldn't worry about that," said the lady. "Under the circumstances, nearly all the time, no one will notice that it's gone."—Harper's Weekly.

Insult.

"Well," said Mr. Stuyvesant for the fourth time, "I must be going."

"What a queer decision!" replied Miss Patience Gage. "You're really quite satisfactory."—Philadelphia Press.

A Heavy Load to Carry

"ALL IS WELL THAT ENDS WELL."

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness and general ill-health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be properly digested, and its products assimilated by the system. On the other hand the blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion, and in turn the nerves are not fed on good, red blood, and we see symptoms of nervousness, sleeplessness and general breakdown. It is not hard work that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor, thin blood the body is unprotected against the attack of germs of grip, bronchitis and consumption. Fortify the body at once with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—a rare combination of native medicinal roots without a particle of alcohol or dangerous drugs.

No man is stronger than his stomach. Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia, and his muscles would soon fail. Physical strength is derived from food. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the strength of the stomach to what extent food eaten is digested and assimilated. People can die of starvation who have abundant food to eat, when the stomach and its associate organs of digestion and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital organ of the body. If the stomach is "weak" the body will be weak also, because it is upon the stomach that body reaps for its strength. And as the body considered as a whole is made up of its several members and organs, to the weakness of the body as a consequence of "weak" stomach will be distributed among the organs which compose the body. If the body is weak because it is ill-nourished that physical weakness will be found in back and knees, in hands and feet equally. So also will the weakness be equally distributed among the organs, heart, liver, kidneys, etc., being proportionately weak according to the amount of the reduction of their daily ration of nutrition.

By way of example take the case of the Assistant Treasurer of the Catholic Foresters at Quebec, Mr. Louis Farn, who writes:

"For years after my health began to fail, my head grew dizzy, eyes pained me, and my stomach was in all the time, while everything I would eat would seem to lie heavy on my stomach. The doctors claimed that it was sympathetic trouble due to dyspepsia, and prescribed for me, and although I took their powders regularly I felt no better. My wife advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and soon I began to feel better. I bought one bottle and we soon found that I began to improve. I kept up my treatment. I took on flesh, my stomach became normal, the digestive organs worked perfectly and I soon began to look like a different person. I can never cease to be grateful for what your medicine has done for me and I certainly give it highest praise."

THE SECRET OUT. To refute the many false and malicious attacks, bogus formula and other untruthful statements published by competing and disgruntled medicine men, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery Family Medicines the Doctor has decided to publish all the ingredients entering into his "Golden Medical Discovery." Hereafter every bottle of this medicine having the name "Dr. J. C. Pierce, M.D., N. Y." will bear upon it a full list of all the ingredients entering into the compound, printed in plain English.

These ORIGINAL Little Liver Pills, first put up by Dr. J. C. Pierce over 20 years ago, have been much imitated but never equalled. They are made of purely vegetable, concentrated and refined medicinal principles, extracted from native American roots and plants. They speedily relieve and cure food indigestion and dyspepsia, Liver and bowels and their attendant distresses, three or four a day.

THE BLACK BOTTLE.

Legend That Still Lives in New York's Believer's Mouth.

The legend of the somber old pile may pass with its destruction, but the tradition of the "black bottle" will be handed down to curse the new. In the minds of the unenlightened this fiction of the past has become a fact, as firmly believed as the doctrine of a religion. The black bottle is the euphemism of the useless, the incurable or the troublesome. It is in the custody of some mysterious person, who sits as the judge of life and death. Its contents are quietly dropped in the victim's food or drink, and he passes on to cumber the earth no longer. There is no appeal from the black bottle. Its existence is denied by all in authority. It does its work silently and surely. Horror of horror! The bottle sometimes falls into the hands of some spiteful nurse or attendant, and then let the trouble maker beware! Or perhaps the medical schools need new material for their dissecting rooms. Again the black bottle, and a plethora of subjects results.

A great many years ago the nursing in the institution was done by convicts from the penitentiary and by women from the workhouse and the jail. Tradition says that in those days it was dangerous to be helpless in the wards with even the wealth of a few dollars. A little opium in the food, a pillow pressed down over the face or a knee squeezed into the throat, and it was all over. The legend of the black bottle may have been the result of those days. Another tradition of Bellevue is to consider every man alcoholic until he is proved innocent. This tradition dates from 1735, when the hospital was "raised" where the city hall now stands, at the expense of fifty gallons of rum, paid for by the corporation.—Harper's Weekly.

Warning to Novelists.
In prohibition states the following novelistic excerpts must hereafter be omitted:

"His apron asked."
"Her beauty intoxicated him."
"As he stepped up he noticed that the ballroom was full."
"As he left the room her eyes filled up."
"She staggered and would have fallen had not a strong arm supported her."
"Her face was all lit up."
"His heart was too full for words."
"He led her to a dim corner of the ballroom, and when they came back both were smiling happily."
"He was a run riot of a beggar," etc.—Nashville Tennessean.

Charles I.'s Cloak.
The mayor and corporation of Shrewsbury have recently had presented to them the scarlet cloak which was worn by Charles I. on the scaffold at Whitehall. The cloak was secured by William Walcot, who was page of honor to the unhappy monarch and who was in attendance on the king at the time of his execution. The garment has been in the possession of the Walcot family for 260 years and was exhibited at the Society of Antiquaries in 1861. It is in a splendid state of preservation, and the Walcot family having presented it to the Shrewsbury town council, it is now on view in the town museum.—Dundee Advertiser.

Use Moonstones in Building.
It is estimated that more than 200,000 moonstones are carried away from Redondo beach every year, says the Los Angeles Express. Residents and visitors are allowed to lug them home in pockets and handkerchiefs, and of late teamsters have been hauling them away by the wagon loads for building purposes. "Protests have been made to the city trustees, but the traffic continues. Nor does the supply of pebbles that are said to be rich in moonstones and other gems seem in the least shortened. The never resting ocean washes them in day after day, as though a boundless wealth of them lies out somewhere in the deep.

Rest and Posture.
We stand and sit too much, according to the views of Dr. Gelbke, expressed in a lecture recently delivered before a body of German physicians. Chairs may have been known to the ancients, but they were used only on extraordinary occasions. Persons of culture as well as the barbarians took their meals and their rest reclining. Dr. Gelbke, according to the London Globe, says that "to this day the primitive peoples prefer the reclining to the sitting posture, and the fact that they lie not upon the back, but upon the stomach, accounts for the better and more supple figures of these people."

The Collar Question.
One of the first signs of advancing years in men is the desire to have an easy and ample collar. Our humorists have dwelt on this subject in many phases, but that it is no joke is shown by the fact that during the past week two men living in the vicinity of New York have died of apoplexy when attempting to button tight collars. While the youth may choke himself if he will in order to be smart looking, let the average man of forty and upward beware. High collars and tight collars are not for him unless he chances to have a neck like an ostrich.—New York Evening World.

The Murray Ledger has this to say of the departing soldiers: "The departure of the young men of the various companies located here dur-

boys made fast friends during their stay, and at least one wooed and

The deal at Guthrie between General Manager Ewing and the Imperial Tobacco Company is still hanging fire. A Guthrie dispatch says:
General Manager Ewing said the association was willing to sell, but the manner in which the Imperial company wanted to obtain the tobacco made it almost impossible to consum-mate the deal. In explaining the inexplicable tangle it would involve the association, one of the members of the association said: "The Planter-ies Protective Association contains about 35,000 members and probably have over 100,000,000 pounds of tobacco in the pool of the 1908 crop.
How to get the amount desired by the Imperial company from these members, equitably, in the loose deal, looks to be impossible. Some arrangements might be decided later, however, by which the Imperial company may buy the amount of tobacco they require."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors promoted the local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease
and therefore requires constitutional treatment.
Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Che-cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on

PRESBYTERIAN REVIVAL

variation after the congregation had been dismissed. Several will unite with this church and the names of others have been given to the other pastors of the city.

The overflowing congregation at night inspired Mr. Wright to the finest sermon that he has preached thus far on "Repentance." The context declares with startling plain-ness that death is an absolute certainty, though it may come in many forms. Come as it may, it must come to every man and every man must be prepared for it.

"Repentance is not sorrow for the consequences of sin. You may be sorry that your sin is to be punished
when you have been found guilty
but this is no proof that you are sorry for the sin itself. It is not shame at having been found out and disgraced, for had not the discovery and exposure never come you would still continue in your sins. It is not fear of death for even an earnest
christian may shrink from dying.
Many a man deceives himself into thinking his repentance is sincere when the only feeling is one of fear
to meet his God as he feels the approach of death. Death but repentance is possible but its reality in most cases is not borne out by the facts.

"Repentance is the appreciation of the mercy of God which involves the realization that sin, in its real nature, is against God, and not merely against man, and also the appreciation of the love of Christ in dying for you. It means being sorry for the sin itself with such a sorrow that you will give it up no matter what it costs. If you are really repentant you will decide now
to give up that you know is sinful, and, so far as you are able, you will right every wrong that you have done. When you have done this you will find the peace of pardon and will know that your repentance is sincere."

Mr. Wright's preaching is the old fashioned kind that was so powerful in winning men in other days, a clear teaching of the great fact of sin and the certainty of hell, with the only hope of the soul in the blood of Christ. He goes to the heart of the matter and does not fail, with great tenderness, to speak plainly of the sins of the day. At the conclusion of his sermon he sang as a solo
"Welcome Home."

NEW ORGANIZATION

Put On Foot In The Farmers'
Meeting Yesterday.

The meeting of "insurgent" tobacco members held at the court house yesterday was attended by about 400 men, but only about 100 appeared to be taking part. Resolutions were introduced by L. R. Davis criticizing the management of the association and providing for the organization of a new loose association. After speeches by Dr. J. D.
Clardy against, and by John Feland and Esq. M. B. Brown for the resolution to amend by memorializing the Planters' Association asking for sales from wagon deliveries by a system of grading, but this received no second and was not acted upon.

On motion L. R. Davis was elected president and B. F. Fuller vice president of the organization.

Both stated that they did not want to disrupt the Planters Association,
but wanted to sell their tobacco loose to avoid burdensome charges and long delays. Mr. Davis stated that he was seeking admission to the United Association at the meeting in Louisville in January.

There was no bad feelings shown,
John Feland's speech putting the crowd into a good humor.

BABY TORTURED FOR 6 MONTHS

By Terrible Itching Eczema—Face and Head a Solid Sore—Spread to His Hand and Legs—Would Scratch Until He Bled—Tiny Sufferer Immediately Relieved and

ENTIRELY CURED IN 2 MONTHS BY CUTICURA

"When my son Walter was three weeks old, eczema appeared on his face. We did not know what it was so went to a doctor who treated him for three months. Then he was so bad that his face and head were nothing but one sore and his ears looked as if they were going to fall off. We tried another doctor. He said he could cure him and we doctored three four months, the baby never getting any better. His hands and legs then had big sores on them and as for his sleeping, we could not think of it, the poor little fellow suffered so terribly. First I tied his hands to the crib to keep him from scratching, but when it got so bad I tied him in a shawl or he would scratch himself all bloody. When he was seven months old we tried a set of the Cuticura Remedies. The first application of Cuticura let him sleep and rest well. In one week the sores were gone but it stayed red and sometimes it would itch so we used Cuticura for two months, then he had a clear and white face. He is two years and seven months old and has never had eczema again. I have this letter will help some who are suffering from skin diseases. Every mother who has a baby suffering with skin disease should just try Cuticura. Mrs. D. J. San Antonio, Tex., Apr. 15, '07.

A single set of Cuticura Remedies is often sufficient to cure torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, and scaly humors, eczemas, rashes, and irritations, from infancy to age, when all other remedies fail.

The Kind You Have Always Bought Beware the Signature of
COBLES CORN

Iowa Farmer Makes a Wonderful Discovery.

Lake City, Ia., Dec. 14.—H. J. Sconce raised a crop of cobles corn on his farm last summer and the peculiar product is on exhibition here. A year ago Mr. Sconce and Editor Garbrough of this county, purchased a quantity of seed corn in Illinois. In this shipment was a freak ear, which, instead of the ordinary cob, was composed of a corn of husk, the grains being neatly wrapped upon the soft foundation, like peas in a pod.

Mr. Sconce was impressed and decided to plant all the kernels found in it. To his surprise, the ears produced this fall were found to be the exact reproduction of the single ear. The ears produced this year yielded as those provided with a cob, and the kernels were large and solid. The ears were filled, kernels even growing among the silk. As a result of this discovery the corn cob may disappear.

Attraction No. 3 Next Thursday Night.

Judge Willis Brown will lecture at the Tabernacle next Thursday night, Dec. 17. Judge Brown recently visited the Kansas State Normal College and J. H. Glodfelter, Vice President and Director in Training of that institution says:

JUDGE WILLIS BROWN.

"It gives me great pleasure to bear testimony to the work of Judge Brown while here. His lectures roused general interest with universally favorable comment. We feel that he is doing a great work and that it is worth while for teachers and students to have their eyes opened to the possibilities of not only rescuing the bad boys but of more efficiently training the average boy. I am sure that Judge Brown will not be without appreciation wherever he may go."

A Genuinely New Sensation in a Detective Story to Be Published in This Paper

For sheer originality and ingenuity we reckon this the best detective story published for some time... as original as it is fascinating. Nor often does a detective story end with so total a surprise, which, nevertheless, when known seems logical and natural.—N. Y. Evening Post.

AMUSEMENTS.

"THE MIDNIGHT FLYER."

Rarely has a dramatic event excited the wide and deep interest that has been shown in Ed Anderson's big scenic production, "The Midnight Flyer." Seldom, if ever, has a stage offering received such superlative praise from the newspapers, press and such attention from ecclesiastical publications. Not only have all classes of theatre-goers been attracted by "The Midnight Flyer," but all other circles have patronized and endorsed it. The Grand Illuminated Scene, "The Storm at Sea," "The Realistic Shipwreck," "The Adirondack Mountains in Winter," and "The Thrilling Railroad Scene" are some of the scenic effects that are to be seen in this production. The play as staged by Mr. Anderson and the supporting company is of that high excellence always seen in productions given by this well known and popular manager. Every piece of scenery that is carried for this great play will positively be used. The engagement is for one night only and will be at Holland's Opera House on Dec. 15.

CHARLEY GRAPEWIN IN "MR. PIPP."

Is heralded to appear at Holland's Opera House next Thursday night Dec. 17.

It straws show which way the wind blows, then Charley Grapewin and his play must be swimming, swimming along on the apex of a tidal wave of complimentary notices. Here are a few sample straws:

"A powerful antidote for the blues is the side splitting and melodious farce, 'The Awakening of Mr. Pipp,' which opened for a week at the Globe Theatre last night. An audience limited only by the capacity of the house gave abundant and incessant evidence of keen enjoyment."

BITTERLY RESENTED

Is the Story That Blakeley Collins Was the Aggressor.

The story that Blakeley Collins, who was fatally shot by a negro named Chas. Coleman on Dec. 7, was in any sense the aggressor, is strongly resented by the friends of the young man who was killed.

Esq. F. I. Frasier, of Lafayette, wishes the Kentuckian to state that he holds himself personally responsible for the statement that whoever started the report that Collins was advancing upon the negro uttered a malicious lie.

Esq. Frasier reiterates the first version of the tragedy, that the boy was attending to his own business and was attacked and murdered by Coleman.

Other evidence was learned yesterday to bear out the first version given as the correct one. The boy's sister was the only eyewitness and she saw the negro fire the third shot after the boy fell to the ground, it is also said that a woman at Mr. J. R. Caudle's when she heard the shots told Mr. Caudle to go over there as Blakeley Collins was probably shot.

The killing from all that can be learned was undoubtedly an unprovoked assault.

There are many people who suffer from backache, rheumatism, lumbago and similar ailments who are not aware these are symptoms of kidney trouble. Pileures for the kidneys act as a tonic and regulator to kidneys and bladder and purify the blood. 30 days' trial $1. Sold by Anderson-Fowler Drug Co., Incorporated.

Horrible Outrage.

Her head was beat into pulp with stones.
